Management information

During February the performance was positive for risky assets in a continuation of January's rally, while we observed some signs of weakness in fixed income markets.

Global equity markets (MSCI AC World Tr Net USD converted into Euro) ended the period up + 3.3%, with emerging markets underperforming developed markets and, among the latter, the Pacific ex Japan region posted the best performance.

Finally, the Euro depreciated vs US dollar by 0.7% over the period.

In this context, the performance of the portfolio was positive.

In the Diversification component, both underlying strategies were slightly negative, while the Multi Asset strategy - BGF Global Allocation Eur hedged - performed positively.

The Growth portfolio was positive in the month, outperforming the reference market (tilted towards European equity). Asset allocation choices were marginally negative (mainly because of EM overweight), while in terms on manager selection almost all underlying funds generated positive alpha, except for BGF Asia Pacific Equity Income. In particular, the European platform and the US value and growth strategies recorded strong results both in absolute terms and vs. reference markets.
